Science Plan

Seed bombs

Equipment

Coloured paper	Packets of wildflower seeds
Water	Bowls
Forks

Method

Tear up the coloured paper into small pieces

Put paper in separate bowls and cover with water and allow to soak into the paper for about half an hour

Using the forks tear into the wet paper until it is like a wet smushy paste

Sprinkle wild flower seeds into the bowls of wet paper and mix.

Each child then takes a lump of coloured smush and roll into a ball-like shape.

Get smaller bits of the other coloured paper smush and add to your ball.

Roll in the palm of your hands to create a smooth finish.

The seed bombs can be planted straight away, or left to dry and planted later on - they will just need to be soaked before planting!

To plant, simply dig a little hole and place your seed bomb in and cover.
